Introduction

The role of the Police and Crime Commissioner (Commissioner) is to secure an effective and efficient policing area, and to ensure that local police meet the needs of the community. The Commissioner works in partnership with a range of agencies at a local and national level to ensure a consistent approach to policing, crime prevention and supporting victims. This briefing provides candidates with useful information on police governance and accountability, and an overview of Dyfed-Powys Police.

The pack should be read in conjunction with the national PCC Candidate Briefing pack produced by the Association of Police and Crime Commissioners (APCC). If you have any questions about the content of this pack, please e-mail PCCElections2024@dyfed-powys.police.uk. Please also visit the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner for Dyfed-Powys' election page for regular updates and information PCCs Election 2024 \(dyfedpowys-pcc.org.uk\)

The Force Area

The area served by Dyfed-Powys Police is geographically the largest police force area in England and Wales, covering 52% of the landmass of Wales.

The area is predominately rural, with a few localised areas of dense urban population. The area served by Dyfed-Powys Police has a vibrant tourist industry with summer drawing large numbers of tourists.

What does this mean for Dyfed-Powys Police?

The area faces some unique challenges associated with two significant seaports and major energy installations at Milford Haven. The long stretch of coastline, large mountainous areas and the many remote rural communities present challenges in narrowing potential criminal pathways.

The increase in population in tourist destinations brings its own implications for crime, anti-social behaviour and roads policing.

According to the Census data (2021), the resident population of the four counties served by Dyfed-Powys Police was 516,000. The population is predominantly White, with ethnic minority groups making up just over 2.8% of the population.

Force Performance

PEEL is an annual assessment of police forces in England and Wales. His Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary and Fire & Rescue Services (HMICFRS) judges Forces as 'outstanding', 'good', 'requires improvement' or 'inadequate' on their effectiveness, efficiency and legitimacy.

In Dyfed-Powys Police's PEEL inspection 2023-25, HMICFRS summarised:

'I am satisfied with most aspects of the performance of Dyfed-Powys Police in keeping people safe, reducing crime and providing victims with an effective service. But there are areas where the force needs to improve.'

Outstanding	Good	Adequate	Requires improvement	Inadequate
		Investigating crime	Protecting vulnerable people
		Preventing crime	Developing a positive workplace
		Police powers and public treatment
		Responding to the public
		Managing offenders
		Leadership and force management

Force Performance

The UK Government's Beating Crime Plan sets out the National Crime and Policing Measures:

- Reducing murder and other homicides
- Reducing serious violence
- Disrupting drugs supply and county lines
- Reducing neighbourhood crime, including burglary, robbery and theft offences
- Improving satisfaction of victims, particularly focusing on domestic abuse victims
- Tacking cyber crime

Commissioning

Commissioners have a number of statutory duties as laid out in the Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act 2011 PRSRA. As well as their core policing role, Commissioners have a remit to cut crime and disorder and have commissioning powers and funding to enable them to do this.

The PRSRA provides powers for Commissioners to award grants to any organisation or body to deliver their community safety priorities.

The priorities set out in the Police and Crime Plan should inform the Commissioner's decisions regarding the funding available to the police and partners to achieve reductions in crime and disorder.

The Commissioner must decide the principles of their approach to commissioning, the desired outcomes, the monitoring and reporting requirements for commissioned services and the budgets involved.

Commissioners must invoke the voice of the public, vulnerable people and victims

Grant funding is provided by the Ministry of Justice to Commissioners for the delivery of Victims' Services.

The victims' grant is allocated according to the population-based funding formula. Activities commissioned utilising it must satisfy the requirements of the Victims' Code.

Victims' Code of Practice / Restorative Justice

The Code of Practice for Victims of Crime 2021 sets out the services and a minimum standard for these services that must be provided to victims of crime by organisations in Wales and England.

Commissioners are responsible for monitoring and reporting on compliance against the Victims' Code of Practice for all criminal justice agencies under the work of the Local Criminal Justice Board.

Under Right 3 of the Victims' Code, Commissioners, along with other agencies, have a duty to ensure that victims have access to Restorative Justice at all stages of the criminal justice system. Each Commissioner must determine how best to deliver victim based Restorative Justice services.

A full list of the current services commissioned via the OPCC can be found on the OPCC website.

The Commissioner allocates the Chief Constable's budget, who then has day-to-day responsibility for ensuring it is managed in accordance with the objectives and conditions set by the Commissioner.

Police Precept

The Precept is the portion of police funding which comes from local council tax payers.

For 2024/25 a precept proposal was presented to the Dyfed-Powys Police and Crime Panel which raised the average band D property precept by £1.62 per month, to £332.03 for the year, a 6.2% increase.

This increase will raise a total policing precept of £79.364m. This will provide a total of central and local funding of £143.902m representing a 6.0% increase on funding levels in 2023/24. The Dyfed-Powys Police precept remains the lowest in Wales at this time.

Medium term financial plan and 24/25 budget

Scrutiny

Established by the PRSRA 2011, Commissioners have a statutory duty and electoral mandate to hold the police to account on behalf of the public. The Policing Protocol Order 2023 sets out the Commissioner's legal powers and duties, which include:

- to scrutinise, support and challenge overall performance of the force including against the priorities agreed within the Police and Crime Plan;

- to maintain an efficient and effective force;
- to provide the local link between the police and communities; and
- to publish specified information to support residents to assess the performance of the Commissioner and Chief Constable.

The Office of the Police & Crime Commissioner's supportive scrutiny approach is designed to be flexible and responsive to current trends and community feedback. Being in constant communication with the Force and having access to live performance data places the Office of the Police & Crime Commissioner in a unique position to be able to support the Force's improvements. The Commissioner's staff advise the Commissioner in determining a risk-based, forward-looking schedule, which includes support from:

Quality Assurance Panel

A Panel of volunteers who review the quality of Police contact with the public, which includes Stop and Search cases, Use of Force and police handling of calls in to the Force's Communication Centre i.e. 101 and 999 calls and the digital desk, in a transparent and independent manner, on behalf of the communities within the Dyfed-Powys area.

Out of Courts Disposal (O OCD) Panel

Representatives from criminal justice organisations such as the Courts, Police Force, Probation Service, Youth Offending and Crown Prosecution Service independently assess, scrutinise and quality control out of court disposals (such as cautions and community resolutions) issued by Dyfed-Powys Police.

OPCC Deep Dive

The OPCC regularly conducts 'Deep Dives' into elements of the Force's performance in order to provide insights into a particular area of public interest or concern. Recent areas of focus have been on the force's approach to tackling illegal drugs, Initial Police Contact, Victim Withdrawal, Stalking and Harassment and Use of Force.

Independent Custody Visitors

Required by law, these volunteers visit local police stations unannounced, at any time of the day or night and provide an independent check on the welfare of the detainees in custody, and the conditions in which they are being held.

The Police and Crime Commissioner is responsible for the consideration and handling of complaints made against the Chief Constable. The Commissioner will decide how the complaint will be handled and whether it meets the requirements to be referred to the IOPC.

Complaint reviews

If a complaint has been recorded under Schedule 3 of the Police Reform Act 2002 and a complainant is unhappy with the outcome of the complaint, they can submit an application for a review to the Police and Crime Commissioner for Dyfed-Powys. The review will consider whether the outcome of the complaint is reasonable and proportionate.

Partnership Working

The PRSRA sets out that Commissioners have a duty to work with partners to prevent and tackle crime. This includes:

- Community safety;
- Criminal justice; and
- Safeguarding

The Commissioner works with a number of organisations and groups to support partnership working:

Welsh Government's Police Liaison Unit (PLU)

The unit provides a vital bridge between policing, as a non-devolved service in Wales, and Welsh Government Ministers and officials. Increasingly, legislation created in Wales is having an impact on policing, and the PLU plays a critical role in influencing policy direction and implementation.

Policing Partnership Board for Wales

Meeting quarterly, the Policing Partnership Board for Wales discusses and advises on policing issues. The Board is chaired by the Deputy Minister and Chief Whip and involves the four Commissioners and Chief Constables in Wales and senior Welsh Government Officials.

Policing in Wales

Previously known as the All-Wales Policing Group, the Policing in Wales group consists of the four Commissioners in Wales and the four Chief Constables of Wales' forces. The Group discusses a range of national matters which impact on local policing.

Local Authorities, Health, Fire, Probation and the Police are all responsible authorities, with the Commissioner involved through their reciprocal duty, as set out in the PRSRA. Aligned to these priorities are the:

CONTEST and Serious Violence and Organised Crime Boards

The objective of these Boards is to prevent, protect, pursue and prepare for counter terrorism and serious violence and organised crime.

Area Planning Boards (APBs)

Working within the footprint of the two Local Health Boards, the APBs provide accountability, governance and scrutiny of substance misuse strategic planning, performance and financial management.

Local Criminal Justice Board

The Dyfed-Powys Criminal Justice Board \(DPCJB\) provides the forum to bring together key partners and senior representatives of Criminal Justice agencies operating within the Dyfed-Powys area to enable collaboration and partnership working.
